STUDENT CONFERENCE

You're Invited... To help empower the next generation of global health leaders to become more informed about global health disparities and find creative, sustainable solutions

You Can... Increase your organization's commitment to philanthropy by sponsoring the 2017 Timmy Global Health Student Leadership Conference. Your support will help Timmy tackle today's most pressing global health challenges by developing reflective, dynamic global health leaders.

About the Event... 100 student leaders from Timmy's 40+ university chapters across the country will convene for a weekend of global health education, networking with global health leaders and other students, and training to execute high quality fundraising, advocacy and local and international service.

Your Impact... Timmy is redefining student involvement in short-term medical service. By engaging promising students in critical reflection, year-round education and advocacy, and the pursuit of long-term strategic, sustainable solutions, you are helping to shape life-long advocates and leaders in the field of global health.
